

Dynamites on stage

As we all know part of being in grade 8, includes the Freshmen's concert also commonly known as the Groentjie Concert. I am pretty sure that everyone who went to the show was pretty much captivated by the energy and enthusiasm of our beloved juniors. Also known as Thingamadopalories, not that they would want to remember the name.

This year the Groentjie concert seemed to have a cartoon theme as we witnessed different characters from Little Einstein's to Phineas and Ferb to the Ninja Turtles. I mean what? Those are some serious throwbacks for some of us. According to Mr van Zyl, this was the first time in a very long time that they didn't have to edit scenes from the play. So to all the Matric Council members we would like to say you did a great job.

However, not everything ran smoothly. As you already know the Groentjie concert is held for two days - one performance for the learners and the other one for the parents. I should say the one for the parents was a success. Parents left the building happy along with their little Gerries.

Oh I almost forgot! Let me shine the light on the Matric Council a bit, their dance was also one of the highlights of the night as they did their chicken dance. You can already imagine how funny it must have been, especially with the boys dancing in front. Hilarious!!!! We also have to shine the lime light on the final act which was the school's anthem. We were all in grade 8 once and we know that the school's song isn't the easiest song to learn, but our grade 8's did very well I should say. So to all our Thingamadopalories we say welcome to the school and know that we are proud of you for being little dynamites on stage.
